CHRIS CASEY

Head Coach • Third Season

Western Connecticut '86

Continuing the resurgence of the men's basketball program, head coach Chris Casey has led the Pioneers to back-to-back 20 win seasons, East Coast Conference Championships and NCAA regional appearances in his first two seasons at the helm.

In addition to his team's accomplishments on the basketball court, Casey's teams are also active in both the Pioneers community and their local community, as the basketball team are familiar faces at many other team's games on campus, and the Pioneers volunteer often for organizations such as St. John's Bread and Life, and the Miracle League of Long Island.

In 2012, Casey led LIU Post to a record of 23-6, as the Pioneers won the ECC title – their fourth championship in five years – and also made their third NCAA appearance in the last four seasons. Under Casey's tutelage, the Pioneers saw three players named to the ECC First Team and one to the Second Team, as well as ECC Player of the Year Stefan Bonneau and ECC Rookie of the Year Tyuan Williams, while Casey earned Coach of the Year honors from his peers. Bonneau went on to earn numerous post-season accolades, including All-Region, All-Met and two All-America citations, while Casey was honored by the Metropolitan Basketball Writers Association as the Division II Coach of the Year.

Casey's first season at LIU Post was a successful one as he led the Pioneers to an East Coast Conference Championship and an appearance in the NCAA East Regional. The season was not without its challenges, as the Pioneers began the season with a 4-6 record, but rebounded to post a 17-4 slate the rest of the way, finishing 21-10 overall and 16-5 in the ECC. Four of Casey's players were selected to All-ECC teams, and Bonneau earned ECC Player of the Year and NABC All-Region First Team, among several other honors.

A former assistant men's basketball coach at Division I St. John's University, Casey was selected as LIU Post's head men's basketball coach following a nationwide search in May 2010.

Casey became the ninth head coach to take over the Pioneer program, which has quickly made its return to prominence in the East Region, as the Pioneers have qualified for the NCAA Tournament four times in the last five years, including an appearance in the Elite Eight Tournament in 2009.

Casey spent six years on the men's basketball staff at St. John's under former head coach Norm Roberts, serving the first two seasons as the Director of Operations before being promoted to Assistant Coach.

During his tenure at St. John's, Casey played a large role on Roberts' staff as he was responsible for recruiting, opponent scouting, player development, on-court instruction and practice and game preparation.

Casey's first season as an assistant coach proved to be one of significance for the Red Storm. St. John's made a return to the BIG EAST Championship Tournament for the first time since 2003, posted its first winning record (16-15) since that season, collected the most victories since its 21-13 campaign four years ago and compiled its best conference record (7-9) since 2003 as well.

In 2008-09, Casey's guidance helped the Red Storm equal that win total, propelling the squad to its first BIG EAST Tournament victory in six years and a postseason appearance in the CBI.

Casey came to St. John's from Central Connecticut State University, where he spent three seasons as the Blue Devils' top assistant coach and recruiting coordinator. He was also responsible for game preparation, player development and on-the-floor coaching at CCSU.

During his tenure with the Blue Devils, the team won the 2002 Northeast Conference championship and earned a berth in the 2002 NCAA Tournament. In 2003, Casey was named an AFLAC National Assistant Coach of the Year.

In his three years with Central Connecticut State, the team averaged nearly 19 wins per year. The team's league record during those years was 40-16, and the Blue Devils advanced to two NEC Championship games.

At CCSU, Casey worked with forward Corsley Edwards, who was selected by the Sacramento Kings in the second round of the 2003 National Basketball Association Draft, the first-ever selection for a Blue Devil player. In addition, two student-athletes, Edwards and Ron Robinson, were named the league's player of the year during his tenure.

Casey joined the staff at Central Connecticut State after serving as the head coach at Rutgers University-Newark for three seasons, from 1998-99 to 2000-01. In his third year with the Scarlet Raiders, he led the team to its second postseason appearance since 1985. The team matched the school record for victories in the regular season and the Raiders qualified for the ECAC Postseason Tournament. For his efforts, Casey was named the New Jersey Athletic Conference Coach of the Year.

Prior to his time at Rutgers, Casey was an assistant basketball coach at St. Peter's College for eight years. He served as the team's recruiting coordinator and helped land seven all-conference players and two players who were named the conference's Rookie of the Year. St. Peter's qualified for the Division I NCAA Tournament twice during his tenure, 1991 and again in 1995.

Casey has also made coaching stops at his alma mater, Western Connecticut State, and St. Francis (N.Y.). In 1988-89, Western Connecticut finished the season 25-3 and made a trip to the Division III Elite Eight in the NCAA Tournament.

Casey is a 1986 graduate of Western Connecticut State University with a B.S. in business administration. He earned his master's in education administration from Central Connecticut State in 1993. He played basketball for four seasons at Western and was a two-time team captain. His team made an appearance in the ECAC Tournament in his senior season.

Casey and his wife, Hope, have two daughters, Lauren (12) and Jordan (10).

David Steinberg - President, Long Island University

Dr. David J. Steinberg, the ninth president of Long Island University, has served the institution since 1985. The son of the late Rabbi Milton Steinberg of Manhattan's Park Avenue Synagogue, he was born in New York City and was educated at Phillips Academy at Andover, Malvern College in England and Harvard College, from which he graduated magna cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa. After a Fulbright year at the University of the Philippines and a year at Columbia University on a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, he returned to Harvard, where he earned an M.A. in East Asian studies in 1963, and a Ph.D. in history in 1964. Dr. Steinberg also has received several honorary degrees.

He began his teaching career in the Department of History at the University of Michigan, where he rose to the rank of full professor. In 1973, he joined the administration of Brandeis University as executive assistant to the president, becoming vice president and university secretary in 1977.

The author of numerous books and articles on Southeast Asia and, in particular, Philippine history, Dr. Steinberg has taught, lectured and written about this important area of the world for a third of a century. His first book, "Philippine Collaboration in World War II," won the University Press Award in 1969. "The Philippines: A Singular and a Plural Place," now in its third edition, was described by U.S. Ambassador to the Philippines Nicholas Platt as "the best single-volume guide to understanding the Philippines, past and present." He also edited and co-authored both editions of "In Search of Southeast Asia," one of the major textbooks on the area. Dr. Steinberg recently collaborated with top scholars from around the world to co-author "The Emergence of Modern Southeast Asia," a new and multifaceted history of this complex region. In addition, he is a co-author of "Religion and Religiosity in the Philippines and Indonesia: Essays on State, Society and Public Creeds," which was published in 2005.

Dr. Steinberg was a member of the international observer team that monitored the Philippine presidential elections when Corazon Aquino defeated Ferdinand Marcos. He has written numerous op-ed pieces and has been a consultant to UN agencies, the United States government, the Ford Foundation and others.

He and his wife, Joan, a chanteuse and real estate executive, reside in McGrath House on the LIU Post Campus. The couple has two Cavalier King Charles spaniels, whom they sometimes bring to football games on campus. His greatest personal accomplishment: raising his two superb sons, Noah and Jonah. His greatest pleasure: watching his grandchildren grow.

Paul H. Forestell - Provost, LIU Post

Paul H. Forestell, a professor of psychology and an internationally renowned marine mammal scientist, was appointed provost of LIU Post in July 2008. A seasoned administrator, Dr. Forestell served as vice president of the Pacific Whale Foundation in Hawaii, as dean of undergraduate programs at Southampton College of Long Island University, and as associate dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at LIU Post.

As provost, Dr. Forestell leads one of the New York metropolitan area's most respected private university campuses, with an enrollment of nearly 5,700 undergraduate, 3,100 graduates and 2,300 continuing education students. He is responsible for campus operations, program development, admissions and recruitment, retention, financial aid, athletics, student affairs, public safety, and buildings and grounds.

His collaborative leadership style has contributed greatly to enhancing the student-centered mission of the University. In 2008, Dr. Forestell established the Division of Student Retention & Academic Support Services at LIU Post to assist students in achieving academic and career success. A champion of experiential learning, he coordinates study abroad and field research opportunities for students, and teaches classes in whale and dolphin behavior.

Dr. Forestell graduated from the University of New Brunswick in Canada with a bachelor's degree in psychology and philosophy in 1972 and a master's degree in experimental psychology in 1976. He earned a Ph.D. in comparative psychology from the University of Hawaii in 1988. He is the author of several peer-reviewed science articles and four books, including "Humpbacks of Hawai'i: The Long Journey Back."

2012-13 MEN'S BASKETBALL

Bryan Collins enters his seventh year as the Director of Athletics at LIU Post. Under Collins' leadership, the Pioneers' athletic programs have seen a continual rise in both the regional and national levels of athletic performance and academics.

Notable achievements during his tenure include 29 conference titles as well as NCAA championship titles from the 2007 and 2012 women's lacrosse teams and the 2009 and 2010 men's lacrosse teams.

This past season, the men's and women's cross country, men's soccer, men's and women's basketball, women's swimming, women's lacrosse and softball all participated in NCAA tournaments.

LIU Post boasts some of top-ranked programs in the country that are frequently ranked in national polls. The Pioneers finished first in the East Coast Conference Commissioner's Cup standings for 2009-10 - the second Cup win (2006-07) during Collins' tenure. Prior to the 2007-08 academic year, the football and field hockey programs gained admission into the esteemed Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference.

Off the field, Collins has included community service as a part of his players' responsibilities. During the 2011-12 academic year, LIU Post student-athletes completed a department record 3,484 hours of service. He currently serves as the Chairman of the National Kidney Foundation - Long Island Kidney Walk.

Collins is responsible for the creation of a department mission statement based on the foundation of athletic excellence as well as the initiation of the Academic Commitment Excellence (ACE) program, designed to improve attendance and academic achievements in the classroom. In addition, LIU Post athletic programs are mentored by campus faculty and staff through the Adopt-A-Faculty program.

In 2007-08, Collins established a Student-Athlete Orientation seminar and handbook as well as an annual student-athlete recognition dinner to recognize both athletic and academic success. The department also established an Academic Honor Roll to honor student-athletes who receive a minimum 3.0 grade point average.

In addition, Collins serves on the East Coast Conference Executive Committee and is also involved with the NCAA/ADA Mentoring Program. He currently serves on regional advisory committees for men's lacrosse and baseball.

Collins has overseen improvements to the athletic facilities on campus, including the installation of FieldTurf on Hickox Field as well as a brand new state-of-the-art sound system for the stadium. In addition, all of the outdoor athletic fields have undergone improvements to their playing surface. The Pratt Recreation Center Gymnasium, home to the basketball and volleyball teams, received a new sound system as well as a working press row table for media and game operations staff.

Collins' biggest undertaking yet has been overseeing the Pioneer Spirit Campaign to raise funding for the brand new outdoor stadium complete with brand new seatback bleachers, which will break ground following the 2012 football and field hockey seasons and open in Fall 2013.

A former student-athlete at St. John's University, Collins played linebacker on the Red Storm's football team and was the recipient of the Dr. Peter Vitulli Award, given to the St. John's student-athlete who demonstrated the most courage, perseverance, dedication and spirit of self-sacrifice in seeking to attain the highest ideals of sportsmanship. Collins received his bachelor's degree in Business Administration in 1987.

Collins and his wife, Patti, reside in Sayville, N.Y. with their son, Tyler (17) and daughter, Megan (12).
